Terri Stockwell has been in the health care field as a registered nurse with Interior Health Authority for the past 28 years and comes to Nlaka`pamux Health Services to lead our home care program, supporting communities that need nurse management, client care plans and home care support.

Terri obtained her degree in nursing through the University of Victoria and has spent much of her practice in rural settings. Terri, her husband and two daughters moved to Merritt in 2006; originally from Salmon Arm.

Terri has worked in all areas of health care but has a passion for senior care, palliative care, and education. Her most recent position, as site Manager for 11 years at Gillis House, which is an long-term care facility, brings to us much needed experience in home care management.

She has teaching and nursing experience with White Feather Family Centre (Tsq`escenemc) with the Canim Lake Band, which will also provided valuable experience to our program.

In Terri's words: "I am beyond thrilled, to be working with Nlaka'pamux Health Services and look forward to meeting members and communities, to come together with a shared vision".
