Andrea Elliott has been working in Health Care for over 35 years and in First Nations Health since 2003. She is originally from California where she worked with persons with disabilities and later in Cancer Research as a Certified Cancer Registrar. She has earned her Bachelor of Science in Computer Information Systems specializing business systems analysis.

Andrea started working on Reserve as Program Coordinator for the Saanich Collaborative Head Start Project, serving three First Nations communities on the Saanich Peninsula, on Vancouver Island. She served as Health Director for Tsartlip First Nation for four years, bringing them through health transfer.

More recently, Andrea moved to Nlaka`pamux Nation territory with her husband to work as Health Director for Heskwen'scutxe Health Services.

Andrea has joined the team as Project Manager for Nlaka`pamux Health providing program development and delivery of community-based projects in support of the 12 Nlaka`pamux Nations. She will be assisting with all aspects of culturally sensitive projects and delivery to the 12 Nlaka`pamux Nation Bands throughout the Nicola Valley and Fraser Canyon Regions.
